

Social or Business Impact

The in-depth analysis of the online education system described in the project can have both social and business impacts:

Social Impact:

- As the course content is available online, the gap between various geographies will be filled and access is available to all people.
- The learners can experience self-paced learning and online learning enables the users to learn life-long.
- There will be more flexibility and collaboration between people will be established.

Business Impact:

- The importance of online learning can lead to the development of new products, which further increases market opportunities.
- Innovative products will be launched into the market.
- Enables personal and professional development.
- As the market opportunities increased, there will be growth in the revenue.
